

Grant's Launch Email

today's speaking webinar (special offer inside)

Wow!

The positive feedback from the Booked & Paid To Speak webinar has been overwhelming :)

Many of you have asked again for the link to the Booked & Paid To Speak course with the bonus info, so here it is...

<http://www.bookedandpaidtospeak.com>

As a reminder, that special offer is only good until Friday, March 6 at midnight EST.

Remember to use the promo code "launch" to save $100 on the Master level!

Also, if you'd like to watch the webinar again (or in case you missed it), I'll be sending out the replay link tomorrow so watch your email for that.

In the meantime, if you have any questions, just let me know!

You're awesome,
Grant

Dear [NAME],

Even the people I know who have the basics of Scrivener down still feel like there's no way they can publish their ebooks, write their fantasy novels, or get a sales page done. It's 'too big'... 'too complicated' ...but all they want to do is write!

At first, the people who know the basics do get a decent amount of writing done...but it's not consistent or productive. There are other things they need to know how to do in Scrivener...like import files, get a cover for their ebook, and learn how to use the Inspector or corkboard..and this ends up taking away all of their precious writing time.

The worst part is, there really isn't a better option out there. But because you already use Scrivener and you make a living from your writing, you simply can't afford NOT to write.

This is why you need more than a blog post or a low-quality video tutorial. It's not fun. It's not entertaining. Some of them aren't even helpful, because it's not the best or the easiest way to do it in Scrivener!

And secretly...you know something is missing. How are all of these other successful writers using it so well...pumping out work like a machine spitting out tennis balls every 2 seconds...but you're not? No wonder you think:

- Am I dumb?

- Am I missing something?

- Am I doing something wrong?

How are you supposed to get even one word on the page if you're thinking like that?
